

The International Max Planck Research School on the Social and Political Constitution of the Economy (IMPRS-SPCE) offered jointly by the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies and the University of Cologne invites suitable candidates to apply for up to Seven doctoral fellowships in economic sociology and political economy

Applicants must hold a Diplom or a Masters degree with honours in political science, sociology, organization studies or related fields. Program details and the online application form can be found at <http://imprs.mpifg.de>.

Fellowships will start on October 1, 2007, and will be awarded for one year with the option of two additional years. Students will receive a stipend of 1,100 euros per month. Working languages at the Research School are English and German. The deadline for application is March 15, 2007.

Doctoral fellows will participate in a graduate school program including courses and summer school sessions and will take part in the intellectual life of the Institute and the University.

The Max Planck Society and the University are committed to improving the opportunities for women in the sciences.

International Max Planck Research School on the Social and Political Constitution of the Economy (IMPRS-SPCE)

Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies
Paulstr. 3
50676 Cologne
Germany

imprs@mpifg.de
<http://imprs.mpifg.de>

